

6 MORE REDS FREE IN BAIL OF $80,000

Civil Rights Congress Puts Up Bonds for 5, Mother of One of Accused for the Other

Six more secondary Communist leaders indicted for criminal conspiracy were released yesterday in bail totaling $80,000, five on bonds supplied by the Civil Rights Congress.

Five party functionaries still remain in jail, including Arnold S. Johnson, 46-year-old national legislative director of the party, who was returned here Wednesday from Pittsburgh, where he was arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

Twenty-one Communists were indicted on June 20, charged with conspiracy to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the Government. Four have never been arrested and are still being sought as fugitives.

Today seventeen of the defendants will plead to the indictment before Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

Frederick Vanderbilt Field, as a trustee of the bail fund of the Civil Rights Congress, put up $20,000 bail each for Betty Gannett, 44, national educational director of the party, and Alexander Bittelman, 61, leading party theoretician.

He supplied $10,000 bail each for Simon W. Gerson, 41, chairman of the legislative bureau of the New York State Communist party; Louis Weinstock, 48, member of the party's national review commission, and Albert F. Lannon, 43, national maritime coordinator for the party.

Mrs. Mildred S. Abt of 141 East Fifty-sixth Street put up a $10,000 bond for her daughter, Mrs. Marian Bachrach, the sixth defendant.

Arraigned before Judge Ryan, Johnson's bail of $15,000 set in Pittsburgh was reduced to $10,000 at the suggestion of United States Attorney Irving H. Saypol.

Mr. Saypol disclosed that although Johnson was a native of New York, the F. B. I. found him on the morning of June 20 at a Pittsburgh railroad station, where he had spent most of the night.

Earlier, the United States Court of Appeals ruled that the Treasury bonds supplied by the Civil Rights Congress "are sufficient." The court ordered that United States Attorney's office to accept them as surety.

The court order added, however, that the Government may "in its discretion institute further proceedings, upon new evidence, for the revocation of such bail because of the insufficiency of the title of the bail fund to the bail so accepted."
