

Communists Planted In South, Solon Says N.C. Probe Shows

Willis Points To School Degrees Of Witnesses

By FRED McGEE
Herald Staff Writer

CHARLOTTE, March 13—After hearing a round-robin invocation of the Fifth Amendment by seven accused Reds, a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee said today he was left with the "inescapable conclusion" that Communists have been planted in the Southland.

The observation came from Rep. Edwin E. Willis (D-La.) during the second day of hearings on Communist activity in North Carolina.

"Most of the witnesses possess university degrees, yet what are their ostensible occupations," said Willis.

He had reference to:

A doctor of philosophy in European history from the University of North Carolina, now a sheet metal worker.

A B.A. graduate of Duke University, who dresses fish in a market.

The holder of a B.A. degree from the University of Wisconsin, who clerks in a meat market.

A former candidate for Congress and former practicing attorney, now "unemployed" as a small farm.

A pre-ministerial graduate of Duke University, holder of a public school teacher's certificate, now a sheet metal worker.

"The conclusion is inescapable," said Willis. "These men are professional agitators planted in the Southland by Communist conspirators. Who said it couldn't happen here?"

Committee Counsel Richard Arens charged, pithily: "These jobs have been only cover employment for your Communist party activities, haven't they?" No one undertook to answer.

These were the witnesses:

Warren Williams, A.B. Wake Forest 1939, M.A. University at North Carolina.

1940, Ph.D. North Carolina 1953. He taught in high schools at Parkton (Robeson County) and Summerville (Gallatin County).

After wartime Army service he now works with sheet metal at Winston-Salem.

The subcommittee called him "one of the top Communist leaders in this state."

William A. McGirt, born in Wilmington, A.B. Duke 1940. He was a shipbuilding firm, as gatekeeper at Cherry Beach, in the library and cafeteria at the University of North Carolina, in a Winston-Salem meat market, now in a Winston-Salem fish market.

The subcommittee called him "head of the Carolina District of the Communist Party."

Ernest Feldman, B.A. University of Wisconsin 1940. He said he was a typist for a realty company at Greensboro in 1930 and later worked as a mail clerk, secretary, stock clerk, for a furniture company, for a jewelry and loan company, now for a meat market in Winston-Salem.

A government witness said Feldman was a former Southern representative of the Communist Daily Worker, and head of a party cell in North Carolina.

Ernest Feldman, "I must refuse to answer on the basis of the First and Fifth."

William G. Binkley, two years at UNC, "unemployed at present," living on a farm near Walnut Cove where a government witness said a Communist leadership school was held in 1952.

Binkley was talking as Arens labeled him a Communist, registered in Louisiana in the 1930s, a Communist candidate for Congress in 1938.

George Van Camp, 28, born in Brooklyn, N.Y., attended school in New York City.

See HEARING On Page 2

Walter Says Reds Sent 'Lady Lawyer' To Halt Testimony

CHARLOTTE, March 13—The chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee today accused the Communist party of sending a New York "lady lawyer" here to keep accused Reds from testifying before his committee.

The charge came from Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) after he warned Miss Rhoda Lake of New York City and Atty. James D. Gilliland of Warrenston to stop putting words into the mouths of witnesses.

Under the rules of the committee, he explained, counsel for witnesses may only advise their clients on their constitutional rights. All the accused Communists have consistently invoked the Fifth Amendment.

Walter noted the two lawyers would talk at length with witnesses on such "simple" questions as "When were you married?" "Do you have children?" or if a certain witness was acquainted with a certain person.

He said Miss Lake would "put words in their mouths" and interfere when a witness attempted to answer a question on alleged Communist activities.

Heated words passed between Walter and Gilliland when accused Communist George Van Camp was asked if he could identify former FBI undercover agent Charles Childs of Chapel Hill, Childs, who was sitting in the courtroom, yesterday identified Van Camp as a student at a Communist leadership training school held at Walnut Cove.

When Van Camp started to answer, Miss Lake stopped him and they whispered at length. Van Camp then invoked the Fifth Amendment.

"We've not been watching the attorneys giving advice when the witnesses don't ask for it," Walter said. "We on the subcommittee have been thinking seriously of putting the counsel under oath and dealing with them directly."

"Are you trying to intimidate counsel?" Gilliland demanded as he jumped to his feet.

"I'm not trying to intimidate anybody. I just want you to know I won't budge yesterday," Walter replied.

Van Camp denied his counsel was interfering. "They were not interfering. I would like to have them tell me what my rights are," he said.

Later, Walter said he believed Miss Lake was sent here by the Communist party for the purpose of "keeping witnesses from testifying about their Communist activities."

Committee Counsel Richard Arens attempted numerous times to draw from the witnesses how they happened to meet Miss Lake. All of the accused Reds said they met the "lady lawyer" here last Sunday.

She told reporters she came to Charlotte at the request of accused Communist leader William McGirt of Winston-Salem and found that other witnesses were without counsel.

Gilliland said he came here only to represent John Myers of Blue's Creek but decided along with Miss Lake to take the other cases. Both have represented every uncooperative witness so far.

Concerned over the uncooperativeness of the witnesses, committee member Edwin Willis (D-La.) asked Mrs. William F. Robertson if she would tell about

See WALTER On Page 2

12,000 Army Draftees Are Called For May

WASHINGTON, March 13 (UPI)—The Defense Department issued a call today for 12,000 Army draftees in May.

It is double the number called for each of the first four months this year. The department said the men are needed as replacements and to maintain the Army at approved strength.

The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force do not intend to ask for any draftees in May. With the May call, 24,000 men will have been drafted since the start of the Korean War in June 1950.

Strategy Conference

Viola Brown (center) of Winston-Salem confers with her attorneys during her appearance as a witness yesterday in Charlotte before the House Un-American Activities subcommittee hearing on Communist activity in North Carolina. At left is Rhoda Lake, New York City attorney, James D. Gilliland, Warrenston lawyer, is at right. (AP Wirephoto)

Nixon Getting Big Write-In Vote

Estes Swamping Stevenson In N. H.

MANCHESTER, N.H., Wednesday, March 14 (UPI)—Sen. Kefauver

(D-Tenn.) early today appeared headed toward a crushing triumph in the New Hampshire presidential primary while Vice President Nixon was receiving an impressive vote.

Walter noted the two lawyers would talk at length with witnesses on such "simple" questions as "When were you married?" "Do you have children?" or if a certain witness was acquainted with a certain person.

He said Miss Lake would "put words in their mouths" and interfere when a witness attempted to answer a question on alleged Communist activities.

Heated words passed between Walter and Gilliland when accused Communist George Van Camp was asked if he could identify former FBI undercover agent Charles Childs of Chapel Hill, Childs, who was sitting in the courtroom, yesterday identified Van Camp as a student at a Communist leadership training school held at Walnut Cove.

When Van Camp started to answer, Miss Lake stopped him and they whispered at length. Van Camp then invoked the Fifth Amendment.

"We've not been watching the attorneys giving advice when the witnesses don't ask for it," Walter said. "We on the subcommittee have been thinking seriously of putting the counsel under oath and dealing with them directly."

"Are you trying to intimidate counsel?" Gilliland demanded as he jumped to his feet.

"I'm not trying to intimidate anybody. I just want you to know I won't budge yesterday," Walter replied.

Van Camp denied his counsel was interfering. "They were not interfering. I would like to have them tell me what my rights are," he said.

Later, Walter said he believed Miss Lake was sent here by the Communist party for the purpose of "keeping witnesses from testifying about their Communist activities."

Committee Counsel Richard Arens attempted numerous times to draw from the witnesses how they happened to meet Miss Lake. All of the accused Reds said they met the "lady lawyer" here last Sunday.

She told reporters she came to Charlotte at the request of accused Communist leader William McGirt of Winston-Salem and found that other witnesses were without counsel.

Gilliland said he came here only to represent John Myers of Blue's Creek but decided along with Miss Lake to take the other cases. Both have represented every uncooperative witness so far.

Concerned over the uncooperativeness of the witnesses, committee member Edwin Willis (D-La.) asked Mrs. William F. Robertson if she would tell about

See WALTER On Page 2

12,000 Army Draftees Are Called For May

WASHINGTON, March 13 (UPI)—The Defense Department issued a call today for 12,000 Army draftees in May.

It is double the number called for each of the first four months this year. The department said the men are needed as replacements and to maintain the Army at approved strength.

The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force do not intend to ask for any draftees in May. With the May call, 24,000 men will have been drafted since the start of the Korean War in June 1950.

share the state's eight convention votes.

The Kefauver margin widened as returns from the state's larger cities began to pour in.

The totals included good-sized chunks of votes from the state's 12 cities, all but three of which he carried when he defeated President Harry S. Truman in the 1952 New Hampshire primary.

More than half the state's Democratic vote is concentrated in the cities.

The biggest surprise of the Republican contest was the wide spread support displayed by GOP voters who want President Eisenhower to keep Nixon as his running mate this year.

With 125 of 257 precincts counted, Nixon had drawn a total of 6,621 write-in votes—only about 2,000 votes under Kefauver's total in the preference poll section of the two-grouping ballot.

Numerous other vice presidential preference choices were registered by Republican voters but Nixon's total was overwhelming.

Gov. Christian A. Bertr of Massachusetts, who had said he would accept the nomination if Nixon were out of the race.

In the Democratic presidential poll, Kefauver swept to a clear-cut victory.

With 125 precincts tabulated, Kefauver had 30,320 votes, Stevenson's supporters had given the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee 1,932 write-in votes.

President Eisenhower breezed to victory in the Republican fight for 14 delegates to the GOP National Convention.

With returns in from 135 precincts, delegate candidates favored the President's renomination of dumping him from the GOP line at San Francisco were far ahead of rivals favorable to Stevenson.

The Eisenhower administration, indicated his approval of Nixon in a heated speech and answer, perceived that followed his formal speech at a National Press Club lunch.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

House Blocks Cut In Business Taxes Scheduled April 1

WASHINGTON, March 13 (UPI)—The House today voted—with almost no opposition—to block a three-billion-dollar revenue loss by maintaining present business income and excise tax rates.

By a vote of 366-4, the chamber passed an administration-backed measure to prevent a scheduled April 1 cut in an assortment of taxes.

The bill now goes to the Senate, where it also is expected to pass in time to keep the billions involved flowing into the Treasury at their current pace.

If Congress should delay, existing law provides for the levy on corporate income to drop from 32 to 47 per cent April 1. This would amount to about 10 percent of the normal tax from 30 to 35 per cent, although the surtax would stay at 22 per cent.

On the same date excise taxes, which have about the same effect as sales taxes—would decline by varying degrees to pre-Korean War levels on gasoline, alcoholic beverages, automobiles and cigarettes.

The present rates have been extended on a year-to-year basis since the Korean War.

Treasury officials estimate the corporation income cutback would cost the government about two billion dollars and the excise reduction another billion.

The present rates have been extended on a year-to-year basis since the Korean War.

Treasury officials estimate the corporation income cutback would cost the government about two billion dollars and the excise reduction another billion.

The present rates have been extended on a year-to-year basis since the Korean War.

Treasury officials estimate the corporation income cutback would cost the government about two billion dollars and the excise reduction another billion.

The present rates have been extended on a year-to-year basis since the Korean War.

Treasury officials estimate the corporation income cutback would cost the government about two billion dollars and the excise reduction another billion.

The present rates have been extended on a year-to-year basis since the Korean War.

Treasury officials estimate the corporation income cutback would cost the government about two billion dollars and the excise reduction another billion.

The present rates have been extended on a year-to-year basis since the Korean War.

Treasury officials estimate the corporation income cutback would cost the government about two billion dollars and the excise reduction another billion.

The present rates have been extended on a year-to-year basis since the Korean War.

Treasury officials estimate the corporation income cutback would cost the government about two billion dollars and the excise reduction another billion.

The present rates have been extended on a year-to-year basis since the Korean War.

Treasury officials estimate the corporation income cutback would cost the government about two billion dollars and the excise reduction another billion.

The present rates have been extended on a year-to-year basis since the Korean War.

Treasury officials estimate the corporation income cutback would cost the government about two billion dollars and the excise reduction another billion.

The present rates have been extended on a year-to-year basis since the Korean War.

Treasury officials estimate the corporation income cutback would cost the government about two billion dollars and the excise reduction another billion.

Wilson Backs Nixon For Another Term

WASHINGTON, March 13 (UPI)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said today he knows such "big good" about Vice President Richard M. Nixon and talk about of dumping him from the GOP line at San Francisco were far ahead of rivals favorable to Stevenson.

The Eisenhower administration, indicated his approval of Nixon in a heated speech and answer, perceived that followed his formal speech at a National Press Club lunch.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

Stevenson Disagrees With Racial Manifesto

CHICAGO, March 13 (UPI)—Adm. E. Stevenson disagreed with the recent segregation manifesto of Southern congressmen today, declaring he does not believe the U.S. Supreme Court intended its "separate but equal" in the context of a school case.

Stevenson issued a statement which said the nation "must proceed along the course" charted by the high court.

Stevenson issued a statement which said the nation "must proceed along the course" charted by the high court.

Stevenson issued a statement which said the nation "must proceed along the course" charted by the high court.

Stevenson issued a statement which said the nation "must proceed along the course" charted by the high court.

Stevenson issued a statement which said the nation "must proceed along the course" charted by the high court.

Stevenson issued a statement which said the nation "must proceed along the course" charted by the high court.

Stevenson issued a statement which said the nation "must proceed along the course" charted by the high court.

Stevenson issued a statement which said the nation "must proceed along the course" charted by the high court.

Stevenson issued a statement which said the nation "must proceed along the course" charted by the high court.

Stevenson issued a statement which said the nation "must proceed along the course" charted by the high court.

Stevenson issued a statement which said the nation "must proceed along the course" charted by the high court.

Stevenson issued a statement which said the nation "must proceed along the course" charted by the high court.

For Grain Grown For U.S. Human Consumption

WASHINGTON, March 13 (UPI)—The Senate voted today for 100 per cent of parity supports on all wheat grown for human consumption in the United States but rejected a similar amendment on cotton.

The wheat amendment was sponsored by Sen. Carlos (R-Kan.) and attached to the omnibus farm bill by a 54-39 yeas vote. It was the first action taken by the Eisenhower administration during Senate debate of the five-year farm measure.

Strings were tied to the wheat plan, however. It would not start to operate until 1957 and then must be approved by a two-thirds vote of wheat growers and the secretary of agriculture.

The administration was announced as not supporting Carlos's proposal, but there was a dispute over whether President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson were adamant against it.

Both the President and secretary have argued strenuously in favor of flexible over high, rigid price supports.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

With the immediate wheat and cotton amendments, however, the Senate picked up speed and adopted a number of amendments.

Tarheels Approve

WASHINGTON, March 13 (UPI)—Sen. Norris (D-Calif.) today voted for the Carlson Amendment writing a "domestic plan" for wheat into the Farm Bill. The proposal, passed by the Senate 34-16 today, was sponsored by Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) and Sen. Russell (D-Ga.).

Senators from the textile areas in both the North and South, which are wary of higher domestic cotton prices, also opposed the Russell amendment.

Senators from the textile areas in both the North and South, which are wary of higher domestic cotton prices, also opposed the Russell amendment.

WILLIAMS

McGIRT

FELDMAN

BINKLEY